How does British Standards Online Work?

The collection of 45,000 documents is classified according to the International Classification for Standards (ICS) scheme and placed in modules. Your company may subscribe to the complete collection of 54 modules, or just the modules you need. Simply log in with your username and password, and the complete collection of BSI Standards is available for searching.

When you find a document of interest, and it is contained within your subscription, you may view it online or download it for use later. If it is outside your subscription an order may be placed for hardcopy delivery.
