Specifications and Standards Information Service

The Source

for Critical Information and Insight™

The key to making sound business decisions is immediate access to current and complete information. With an IHS Specs & Standards subscription, you will receive the information you need, when you need it. Specs & Standards is an integrated solution from IHS, which can be tailored to meet your individual information requirements. Customers can subscribe to the relevant sections of information from specific standards bodies, which includes collections of industry, national, international, corporate and military standards from more than 450 organisations.

The Specs & Standards solution is a critical source for many industries including automotive, aerospace, construction, electronics, telecommunications, petrochemical, utilities and U.S. government & military. Our single information solution provides critical data needed to make strategic engineering, purchasing, maintenance and quality assurance decisions that directly impact costs, time-to-market, product quality and process efficiencies.

The Specs & Standards database includes complete sets of documents such as BSI, ISO, IEC, AECMA, NATO, CECC, MOD UK, ASME, API, ASTM, US DOD, DIN, JSA and many more. These are available at your desktop for immediate full-text access, which can be downloaded or printed at your convenience.
