Irish Health & Safety Information Service

Today's businesses operate in increasingly regulated industries, with ever changing regulations and best practice. The key to compliance is access to an established, authoritative and reliable information source. IHS Technical Indexes, in conjunction with NISO, offer an information service designed specifically for health & safety professionals in Ireland in order to assist in company compliance.

IHSIS provides industry and government with full-text information from key organisations such as HSA, NISO, NSAI, relevant Republic of Ireland government departments as well as HSE and HSE (Northern Ireland). These documents offer relevant legislation, guidance, standards and best practice for regulatory compliance. The extensive, daily updated range of information includes relevant Republic of Ireland, Northern Ireland and European legislation and covers all aspects of occupational health & safety information relevant to the workplace - including relevant EN/Irish Standards and an optional EN/British Standards supplement.
